

Alternative Approaches to High School for Underserved Populations

A Mixed-method Micro-Level Pilot Study Utilizing Comparative Case Study and Quantitative Statistical Analysis

Studies cited rely primarily on quantitative analysis of school records examining such factors as student retention, GPA, standardized testing results, and post-graduation success. Some qualitative activities such as surveys and interviews were also utilized.